This Week's Learning

We have been learning all about amazing air transport and where you could go on each one. We have been looking at fiction and non fiction books as well as looking at how they are structured, with a start, middle and end. We have even been suggesting how some of the stories may end.

Something Special

Pre-reading and book skills are really important at pre-school age. Pre-reading skills are the skills children need in order to help them to become a reader. Many of these skills are learnt naturally, during the course of childhood, at home and at pre-school. By talking and reading with your child, you will be doing a great deal to help these essential skills to develop. Reading and sharing books together, talking about the pictures, following the words as you read with your finger will all help. Try asking some of the following questions:

What did the character just do?

Why do you think that they did that?

What do you think the character is like?

What do you think will happen next?

Why do you think that?

What do you think the story is about?
