We have been learning all about the life cycle of chickens: what baby chickens are called, where they live, what they eat and if chickens can be or provide food for people. We also had a visit from Miss Clare's chickens.

Something Special

Build a boat challenge

STEM stands for science, technology, engineering, and mathematics. STEM is important because it pervades every part of our lives. Science is everywhere in the world around us. Technology is continuously expanding into every aspect of our lives. Engineering is the basic designs of roads and bridges, but also tackles the challenges of changing global weather and environmentally-friendly changes to our home. Mathematics is in every occupation, every activity we do in our lives.

Why not design a boat that floats? Draw your boat first and talk about shapes and sizes. Look at pictures of real boats. Collect what you need to make it, think about how will it stick together? Make your boat and see if it sinks or floats. Do you need to make any changes? Don't forget to take a photo to share with pre-school!
