This Week's Learning

This week's rhyme of 'Down by the station' has caused lots of wonderful extensions on the children's interest in trains, creating trains from large boxes outside, making their own tickets and talking about where they were going, 'I'm going to the seaside to go surfing!'

They used the trains to mix colours on the tracks and enjoyed pretending to be trains outside whilst singing various train rhymes and songs.

Something Special

Using the trains to mix colours was enjoyed and as the children were bringing in autumn treasures from home they explored how colours could be mixed using pine cones, conkers etc.

Why not go for a walk together, talk about the colours, sizes, shapes and textures and see what autumn treasures you can find to turn them into a craft activity?

You may wish to read this article on a wonderful experience of collecting conkers on an autumnal day:
