This Week's Learning

We have been learning all about the role of postal workers by writing our own letters and putting them in an envelope ready to post. We watched 'The Letter' from 'Come Outside' on YouTube and made our own role play post office, we created a story map from our two stories and we used our listening ears to listen to the environmental sounds on our walk to post our letters.

Something Special

The children have been chatting about starting reception and who will be in their class. It's okay not to be with their best or most favourite friend as they will see them before school, at playtimes, lunchtimes and in the shared areas within the reception wing. They will also be able to see their friends after school on the green or for play dates at home.

Preparing for reception emotionally:

Lots of parents (and some children) are very anxious about this new change of starting school. It may be the cause of a huge bag of mixed emotions, both the excitement about growing up and moving onto the next step, and the sadness at watching them become more independent in the sense that they don't need us as much. Ultimately it's a wonderful thing that they will be growing, learning, developing and building character but it's definitely a whole new world.

- Read starting School books or watch clips
- Purchase uniform, shoes, coat etc and make it exciting
- Buy clothes that are easy to put on independently
- Label EVERYTHING!
- Practice putting clothes and shoes on & off independently
- Teach your child to use the toilet and wash hands independently
